HUNTING GUIDELINES PROPOSED

Proposed regulations on the hunting of migratory shore and upland game birds during the 1975 season are being published in the Federal Register on July 2. The public will have 15 days to comment on them.

The proposal outlines the bag limits and earliest and latest season dates and shooting hours for mourning and white winged doves, band-tailed pigeons, rails, woodcock, snipe, gallinules, teal, and sea ducks in the Atlantic Flyway, and for waterfowl, coots, snipe, and cranes in Alaska. The proposed regulations are basically the same as last year.

The public comment period is limited to 15 days because of the tight time schedule for publishing the final rulemaking. All comments should be addressed to the Director, Attn: Migratory Bird Management, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C. 20240.
